

Breathe you again

Deflate
And breathe you again
The air that you blew in Inhale
For the last time you were here

I bet you won't even miss the things that you left here
They'll linger here as long as I'm around

I'd give it all
I'd give it all
If I could breathe you in once more
I'd give it all
I'd give it all
I'd give it all up if I could just breathe you again

I know you'll teach me again
That all that we're made of is stardust that can't leave the ground anymore
I'm sure you'll show me the way to shine anyway
To leave a bright trail in the other's eyes

I'd give it all
I'd give it all
If I could breathe you in once more
I'd give it all
I'd give it all
I'd give it all up if I could just breathe you again

Carried your weight
at the end of the road
Dust in my hands
Dust in the rain
I promise I won't let the sun rise again
You did no wrong – it had no right

Carried your weight
at the end of the road
Dust in my hands
Dust in the rain
I promise I won't let the sun rise again
You did no wrong – it had no right

I'd give it all
I'd give it all
If I could breathe you in once more
I'd give it all
I'd give it all
I'd give it all up if I could just breathe you again
I'd give it all up if I could just breathe you again
